

Jobs/Careers

Share our success!

The huge range of services we offer is reflected in the wide variety of duties and responsibilities our employees have - and we owe our company's success in no small part to the individuality and imagination of the people we employ.

This means we always have a number of interesting positions to be filled. Whether you're an established professional or just at the start of your career, we're looking for staff who want to achieve great things and relish taking on exciting challenges.

So face the future today with Felbermayr and reap the benefits of working in an international yet family-run business that has a solid organisational structure and never stops growing.

If you can't find the right job for you right now, please don't hesitate to send us a speculative application. To do so, please visit our careers portal or send your up-to-date documentation (covering letter, CV, preferred location, references, etc.) to jobs@felbermayr.cc.
